II. Purpose of the event

International University of Japan (IUJ) would like to connect with ministries and young potential government officials using the method of online meetings/webinar through Zoom. The goal is to spread the information about the university and the programs which includes International Public Policy Program (IPPP)- a new one year, 32 credits program, created by GSIR which, with mutual agreement, will be a part of the collaboration framework between IUJ and JICA. This information sharing session will offer the government officials in Cambodia an opportunity to grasp the useful information, including the scholarship opportunity from International University of Japan and JICA.

III. About International University of Japan

The International University of Japan (IUJ), founded in 1982, is a private postgraduate institution founded with the extensive support of Japan's industrial, financial and educational circles and of administrative in the area where it was established. Its administrative policy, based on a spirit of progressive internationalism, is open and autonomous. IUJ is Japan's oldest English-based graduate school, with 100% of its regular courses offered in English. The university's mission is to train leaders who can contribute to the practical resolution of global problems facing people living in various countries and regions in the world, as well as organizations including governments, companies, and NGOs, and to extend public and social benefits globally. In order to make this possible, IUJ offers a place to foster these leaders' professional knowledge and skills regarding politics, economics and management, and to help them achieve a deep understanding of and human respect for different cultures. Additionally, IUJ is located about 230 kilometers northwest of Tokyo. Its campus is situated in a beautiful valley surrounded by magnificent Echigo-sanzan mountains. The local area offers rich traditions of rural community and outdoor opportunities throughout the year; mountain climbing, hiking, skiing, hot springs and many more.

IV. About event organiser

For over 15 years, Cambodian-Japan Cooperation Center (CJCC) has been training and developing high-competent human resources for Cambodia, enhancing mutual understanding and cooperation between Cambodia and Japan through three main activities: Business Training, Japanese Language for Career Development, and Culture and Education Exchange Program. CJCC is supported by both Cambodian governments represented by Ministry of Education, Youth and Sport (MOEYS) and Japanese government represented by Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA) and Japan Foundation (JF).

CJCC has conducted several activities every year related to educational purposes and one of our main events is Study-in-Japan fair. Many well-known universities or institutions usually participate in order to share and promote their organization as well as study in Japan to students and the public in Cambodia. In addition to this, CJCC has organized offline/online seminar from other universities that would like to further promote and spread information of their school to specific groups of participants. With this being mentioned, CJCC, JICA Cambodia and International University of Japan have worked together in order to organize a webinar in the purpose of promoting the university's new program, International Public Policy Program (IPPP), to government officials in Cambodia. Therefore, with this proposal, we, a representative from CJCC as well as co-organizers of this webinar, cordially would like to invite you to join our special event from International University of Japan scheduled on September 07, 2022 from 14:00 – 15:00.

International Public Policy Program 1-year Track

A one-year mid-career program designed for future governmental leaders in collaboration with JICA

The International Public Policy Program is a one-year midcareer program, designed for diplomats and government officials of countries in Asia, the Pacific, and around the world. It is a program introduced through close consultation between IUJ and the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA).

Students in this program will choose their concentration areas (either "International Affairs" or "Public Policy"), depending on their professional backgrounds and career goals, and study various disciplinary-related courses in respective fields. They will also be able to take a variety of issue-oriented courses as electives, choosing from a wide range of courses offered at IUJ. In summer, toward the end of their one-year study program, students will participate in intensive capstone courses, some of which will be given by experts of high caliber specially invited for the course. There, they will be given opportunities to discuss global issues, such as the changing international political and economic landscape and the global environmental challenges.

Thus, the program will not only encourage the students to look back on and systematize their professional experiences, but also develop them into a body of knowledge with which they can further their professional capabilities. The program will also help the students to develop their capabilities to think about and discuss various international public policy issues from long-term, broad, and diverse perspectives.
